

The 36th Annual CCSC Eastern Regional Conference

October 23-24, 2020

Online

Due to COVID-19 and its effects on our members and institutions, the CCSC Eastern Steering and Conference Committees have decided that we will meet this year in an interactive and synchronous online environment. Poster presentations and the student programming contest will also be available in an online format. Please see the CCSC Eastern website for more information and details will be added throughout the planning process. The deadline for submission has been moved to July 10 to accommodate these changes. We look forward to your participation and attendance.

Rates: Regular - $50, Student - $20, Programming Team - $45, K-12 Teacher - $30, Retired Faculty - $30

Please consider participating in this year's conference!

Scholarly Papers*	Peer reviewed and published in the Journal of Computing Sciences in Colleges and the ACM Digital Library. There is an award for best paper.
Faculty and Student Posters	Abstracts may be printed in the Journal of Computing Sciences in Colleges or in the conference program. There are awards for best faculty and student posters
Undergraduate Student Research	A limited number of sessions are available for students to present their research. There is an award for best student paper. Student papers are not published.
Workshops, Panels, and Tutorials	Workshops (2.5 hours) and Tutorials (75 minutes) provide instruction to participants. Panels offer varied views on a specific topic and allow for discussion. We can make these work online, please plan accordingly.
Nifty Ideas/ Lightning Talks	Nifty Ideas and lightning talks are short presentations of an assignment or technique that is helpful in the classroom.
Programming Contest	A collegiate programming contest for undergraduate programming teams. Awards are given to the top 3 teams. This year's contest is completely online.

*Accepted faculty papers are published in the Journal of Computing Sciences in Colleges and the ACM Digital Library. Digital Object Identifiers (DOIs) will be available for all papers. Papers must be presented by a registered participant at the conference or will be removed from the journal and ACM Digital Library.
